Hi [REDACTED]

Are there women in your life who matter to you? Friends, mothers, sisters, granddaughters? If so, you're invited to Gather.

Saturday 8th March is International Women's Day! Gather your friends for dinner (or puddings, a coffee morning, or a takeaway if cooking isn't for you!) and join a global movement celebrating women and breaking the silence around violence.

It's simple, fun and meaningful. Get your free Gather pack now, including a step-by-step guide to help you host a memorable fundraising event, conversation starters, recipes from acclaimed chefs, an all-female playlist and more!

1 in 3 women globally experience violence in their lifetime. The news is full of shocking examples – from Gisèle Pelicot's battle for justice against her husband and tens of other men in France, to former Harrod employees coming forward about historic sexual assaults.

Last year, women and men across the UK gathered in their homes, sharing their stories and passion for protecting women.

One Gather host, Abbie, shared, "*Hosting Gather was one of my highlights last year! Not only was it an excuse to get my friends together, but we also had really meaningful conversations that left us all feeling inspired."

You can be part of this special series of events this International Women's Day. Plus, by asking your friends to donate the equivalent of a bottle of wine or pudding, you can easily fundraise together to help protect more women from violence.

Take two minutes now to sign up and turn a Saturday night with your friends into something extra special:

IJM has helped bring over 21,800 women and children to safety from violence, and tens of thousands more from trafficking. You can help us reach more women across the world. Every woman everywhere deserves to be safe from violence. Everyone everywhere can be part of making that possible.

Here's to building a safer world for women, together.
